ARCTIC NAVIGATOR'S PRAYER By the author of Legends of Lampi dosa, &c.]

Spirit of Hope!-thy pinions fleet May reach the Glacier's stormy seat! Thou of elements the queen. Shalt best islame the changeful scene, Where ice gives fiery meteors birth, And stiffen'd Ocean vies with earth: But first with bland and genial ray Doubt's freezing barriers melt away! First save us from the blue field's realm.

From gloomy frost our colonies Of gay and busy thou hts release, That far in search of gems and flow're Have stray'd from safe domestic bow

Like the lost race which home again Norwegia's pastor call d in vain, Where savage Greenland's giant shor They tempted, and returned no more "

Alas! thus Folly's venturous roam From the calm temperate zone of Home.

Of gaudy toys and plumes in quest, Till bitter gales their speed arrest, And bare and bruis'd their bark is hurld

On the cold Arctic of the world, To dwell hound up in icy chains, While life's long polar winter reigns, In pomp magnificently drear As the blank ice field's dismal glare, Unless, like thee some gentle star Of kind affection gleams from far, And leads to social duty's track The long bewilder'd wanderer's back.

Spirit of hope! at thy command Yon scowling death clime shall grow bland-

Be thou the unchanging Arctic Moon, That dark and devious regions through May lead the pilgrim's frail canoe To some bright cove, where long, un

THE JEWS.

This unfortunate race of p-ople have, in an exemplary and awful manner, realized by their sufferings and misfortunes, the truth of the secr. d scripture. Persecution. Gatrage, ar Oppression form the principal trait in the annals of their history. Outlawed and detested by the world; even their very name is the brand of reproach, disgrace and dishonesty. They exist a people without a country; a nation withou a home. Their offspring alike the slaves of an African or European despot; themselves the isolated outcasts of nature, wandering upon the broad surface of the globe, mani-Eesting, in a solemn and impressive minner, the tremendous consequences of the wrath of God. The mis fortunes of a nation, or the distresses, sorrows, and sufferings of an individual excite at least some pry and commiseration; but the sorrows and sufferings of a Jew, far from awakening the sigh of regret or the tear of sympathy, seem the source of pleasure and triumph. Is this natural? No. Is it from custor. Sure y not. Does not the Christ. an breast feel for the woes of an African, a Turk, or an Indian, and with the plenitude of sympathy soothe and alloyiate them? All this is true; and equally true is it that the Christian's heart is not susceptible. tible of the fellowifeeling for a Jew. Why is this? 'Tis that the God of Heaven hus cursed them; 'tis the seal of his displeasure that blights every friend'y feeling of the soul, and leaves them monuments of Omnipotent detestation.

The following Historical Sketch es of the persecutions and miljor-tunes of this st guatized sect may not prove uninteresting:

Their seventy years of captivity commenced 606 Sears before Christ. The year A D. 70 one million put to the sword at the destruction of Jerusalem. In 135 five hundred and eighty thousand destroyed by the Romans. First arrived in England in 1079, and in 1255, upwards of two hundred apprehended for crucifying a child, of whom eightedn were hanged, and the rest heavily | JOHN RANDALL, & SON fined; same year seven hundred slain in London, because a Jew would have more than two shillings a week for the loan of twenty; in 1262 every Jew who lent money on usury, commande i to wear a plate upon his oreast, signifying he w s. usurer, or quit the realm; in 1272 two hundred and sixty seven hanged and quartered for clipping; the same year they crucified a child at Nottinguam, for which fifty were drawn at horses' tails, and hanged; all the synagogues were destroyed; 1382, all the Jews in England wer apprehended in one day, their goods and chattels confiscated to the king, and they, to the number of fifteen thousand six hundred and sixty, ba mished the realm, having only a sufficiency to sustain life, allowed them. They remained banished three hundred and sixty four years, till Oliver Cromwell restored them.

A general massacre of them at Verdun, by the peasants, who from a pretended propnecy conceived the holy land was to be recovered by them from the i fidels; five hundred of these took shelter in a castle, & defended themselves to the last extremity; when, for want of weapons, they threw their children at the enemy, and then killed each other In 1217, driver out of Span, to the number of one hundred and fity thousand; 1492 they retired to Africa, Portugal and France; it was against them the inquisition was there first established; 1750 an act passed in England to naturaliz them, but in 1754 it was repealed on the petition of all the cities in England.
